Lute

Lutes were commonly played to entertain nobles. Troubadours used lute playing to assist with their storytelling.

Gutenberg Bible

An original Bible printed on the Gutenberg press is in present day museum. Many illuminations were used in this printing.

Troubadour

Since few books were available and very few people could read, traveling storytellers known as troubadours told stories and sang songs to entertain the nobles.

Stained-glass

With the gothic style of architecture came the use of stained-glass windows to further decorate the churches.
