

Principal Information Note

Our class has been reading the novel Class President. In chapter seven of the novel, the principal announces that there will be no more soccer playing at school due to Arthur's broken glasses and the possibility that someone may get hurt.

You are invited to be involved in a pre-reading strategy for chapter seven by making the same announcement to our class. The announcement will be used as a discussion starter to review chapters previously read and to pique interest in reading chapter seven. Hopefully, the announcement can be presented in person, but may also be made over a public address system or by written note on school stationary.

Announcement to be made

“From now on, there is to be no more soccer playing in the school yard. I am concerned about accidents like Arthur's broken glasses, and that someone might be injured more seriously.”

Please detach and return the lower portion of this note to assist me in my planning.

Thank you,
